RE: Formal Complaint Requesting Investigation into Ridglan Farms' Classification of Dogs Under the Animal Welfare Act

To whom it may concern:

Rise for Animals and The Marty Project respectfully submit this formal complaint urging the United States Department of Agriculture (“USDA”) to initiate an investigation into Ridglan Farms (“Ridglan”), a USDA-licensed facility operating under both a Class A breeder/dealer license (35-A-0009) and a Class R research registration (35-R-0004). Available evidence – including public testimony and USDA inspection records – suggests that Ridglan may be violating Animal Welfare Act (“AWA”) regulations by misclassifying its canine population, thereby undermining federal oversight and evading legal obligations.

On April 22, 2025, Ridglan’s lead veterinarian, Dr. Richard Van Domelen, publicly declared before the Wisconsin Veterinary Examining Board (“VEB”) that he considers all of Ridglan’s dogs to be “research animals” – regardless of whether any individual dog is enrolled in an active study. This sweeping statement not only reflects a misunderstanding of federal classifications but also appears to reveal a noncompliant institutional policy at Ridglan – one that fails to distinguish between animals held under its USDA Class A license and those under its USDA Class R registration.

USDA records from 2014 through 2025 clearly document divergent canine population counts under Ridglan’s two regulatory designations. Inspections of its Class A operations record an average dog population of approximately 2,450, while inspections of its Class R facilities reflect an average of fewer than 150 dogs. Most recently, on January 22, 2025, the USDA documented 2,639 dogs under Ridglan’s Class A license and only 284 dogs under its Class R registration. These data indicate that Ridglan itself has historically designated – and continues presently to designate – the overwhelming majority of its dogs as non-research animals, directly contradicting Dr. Van Domelen’s statement to the VEB.

AWA regulations are designed to prevent regulatory arbitrage between breeder and researcher designations, and they prohibit the generic or wholesale designation of animals as “research” based on mere internal preference or operational convenience. Animals may be designated as research animals only if they are actually involved in research activities that are properly documented and reported. See 9 C.F.R. § 2.36(b)(4)-(8). Further, dual-status facilities like Ridglan must maintain distinct and accurate records for animals held under each license or registration. See 9 C.F.R. §§ 2.35, 2.75.

Ridglan’s reported policy of classifying all dogs as “research animals” regardless of their use – and in contradiction of USDA records – violates these regulatory provisions and raises multiple concerns:

- Misuse of Licensure and Systemic Underreporting: By representing all of its dogs as “research animals” to state authorities while reporting the vast majority of those same dogs to the USDA under a Class A breeder license, Ridglan may be misusing its dual licensure to avoid stricter oversight. This is contrary to the regulatory structure, which requires that each dog be properly categorized and tracked under their appropriate designation and clearly mandates that animals only be classified as “research” animals if they are part of a legitimate, documented research protocol approved by an Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (“IACUC”). See 9 C.F.R. §§ 2.35-2.36, 2.38(g), 2.50-2.51, 2.75(a). Dr. Van Domelen’s public statement appears to concede Ridglan’s failure to observe this standard and suggests an improper attempt to evade Class A requirements by mischaracterizing its breeding or dealing dogs as “research” dogs.
- Regulatory Evasion and Potential Criminal Liability: Ridglan’s contradictory representations to federal and state authorities appear intended to shield the facility from liability under Wisconsin’s animal cruelty law, which does not apply to research or “related incidental animal care” conducted at a federally-regulated research facility like Ridglan. See Wisconsin Statutes §§ 951.02, § 951.015(3). By declaring that all of its dogs are “research” animals, Ridglan may be attempting to retroactively invoke this exemption for procedures performed outside of approved protocols. This perceived tactic represents an improper effort to shield the facility from state-level accountability, as federal regulations do not permit research designations for animals held for breeding, sale, or non-research purposes.
- Violation of Federal Recordkeeping and Reporting Requirements: If Ridglan failed to report all internally classified “research” dogs to the USDA, the facility may be guilty of material misrepresentation and failure to comply with federal recordkeeping obligations. Federal regulations require that USDA licensees and registrants maintain complete and accurate records of all animals and prohibit the falsification or omission of information to federal regulators. See, e.g., 9 C.F.R. § 2.35, 2.4.

In light of the foregoing, we respectfully request that the USDA:

- Initiate an investigation into Ridglan Farms' compliance with AWA regulations, including whether it has used its Class A license to house unreported research animals in violation of federal regulations;
- Audit Ridglan's internal records, including veterinary files, IACUC documentation, animal identification logs, and animal classification procedures, to determine the actual status and use of animals under each regulatory designation; and
- Evaluate and take appropriate enforcement actions, including, as warranted, civil penalties for regulatory violations, suspension or revocation of Ridglan's license or registration, and referral to relevant state authorities if misclassification is confirmed. See §§ 9 CFR 2.3, 2.4, 2.11, 2.35, 2.75.

AWA regulations require the transparent and accurate classification, licensing or registration, and reporting of animal use. Based on Dr. Van Domelen's public statement, Ridglan Farms appears to have adopted a posture that deliberately undermines these principles, and we urge the USDA to act swiftly to uphold the law and ensure accountability.

RE: Urgent Request for USDA Action Regarding Ridglan Farms' Documented Violations

To whom it may concern:

Rise for Animals and The Marty Project respectfully submit this request urging the United States Department of Agriculture ("USDA") to initiate coordinated investigative and, as warranted, enforcement action against Ridglan Farms ("Ridglan"), a USDA-licensed Class A breeder (35-A-0009).

Records obtained from the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection ("DATCP") — and attached hereto — demonstrate DATCP's intent to cite Ridglan for 311 violations of state law and regulations governing animal care. Specifically, DATCP charges that:

1. Between February 7, 2022 and February 22, 2025, Ridglan violated Wis. Admin Code § ATCP 16.20(2)(a) 308 times by "failing to handle a dog as carefully as practicable and in a humane manner that does not cause physical harm or unnecessary injury."
2. On June 6, 2024, Ridglan violated Wis. Admin. Code § ATCP 16.20(2)(b) one time by "fail[ing] to provide daily body, mobility, and behavior check of a dog."
3. On September 16, 2024, Ridglan violated Wis. Admin. Code § ATCP 16.20(2)(b) two times by "fail[ing] to provide daily body, mobility, and behavior check of two dogs."

Congress enacted the federal Animal Welfare Act ("AWA") to "insure that animals intended for use in research facilities . . . are provided with humane care and treatment." 7 U.S.C. § 2131. Pursuant to this mandate, the USDA is entrusted with licensing, inspecting, and taking appropriate enforcement action against Class A facilities like Ridglan.

Furthermore, the USDA has explicit statutory authority to cooperate with state officials in carrying out its AWA responsibilities. Pursuant to 7 U.S.C. § 2145(b):

“The Secretary may cooperate with officials of any State or political subdivision thereof in carrying out the purposes of this chapter and of any State law or regulation on the same subject matter.”

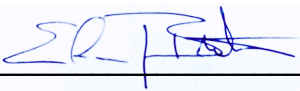

This provision empowers the USDA to work directly with DATCP to address systemic violations at Ridgland. Indeed, it seems clear that Congress intended this cooperation to prevent precisely the type of enforcement gap now on display in Wisconsin.

Accordingly, we respectfully request that the USDA:

- Immediately coordinate with DATCP under § 2145(b) to review and act on the 311 violations already documented by state authorities;
- Initiate federal inspections and enforcement proceedings, including license suspension or revocation, as warranted;
- If the USDA's own inspections or investigations confirm systemic AWA violations, refer the matter to the Department of Justice for injunctive relief, consistent with the precedent set in United States v. Envigo RMS, LLC (W.D. Va. 2022); and
- Provide a public statement clarifying how the USDA will use its cooperative authority with state officials to ensure that regulated entities cannot evade accountability.

Federal inaction in the face of documented, systemic violations undermines the federal oversight framework. The public interest — and, indeed, USDA's congressional mandate — demand swift enforcement to ensure that licensees cannot exploit regulatory gaps while their animals remain at risk of illegal mistreatment.

In addition to the penalties above, a court may order a person who violates this section to pay the expenses of caring for dogs that are removed from the person's possession because of mistreatment. See Wis. Stat. § 173.41(15)(c).

FACTS

8. On June 6, 2024, Department inspectors conducted a routine inspection of the Defendant's dog breeding facility at 10489 W. Blue Mounds Road in Blue Mounds, WI. During the inspection of Building 7, inspectors found an adult, female Beagle (preliminarily identified as ZKA-8 or FZA-8) with an apparent interdigital cyst on the dog's right-front paw. The apparent interdigital cyst appeared to be ruptured. The dog was observed by inspectors to be limping and keeping weight off of the right-front paw. The Defendant was unaware of the dog's condition and the dog had not been seen by a veterinarian for the condition. While the Defendant claimed the condition hadn't been noticed by staff yet that day, a cyst would require more than 24 hours to develop and subsequently rupture, indicating that the condition had gone unnoticed for at least a full day.

9. On September 16, 2024, Department inspectors conducted a follow-up inspection of the Defendant's dog breeding facility at 10489 W. Blue Mounds Road in Blue Mounds, WI. During the inspection of Building 7, inspectors found an adult, female Beagle (FVC-O) with an apparent leg injury. The dog was observed by inspectors to be limping and keeping weight off the right-front leg. Inspectors noted that the dog's right-front leg had swelling and there was the presence of two apparent, deep abrasions or puncture wounds. Within the same enclosure an additional adult Beagle (FJA-9) dog was found to have similar wounds on the dog's muzzle. Injuries on both dogs were partially healed including scabbing, indicating the injuries were present for at least 24 hours or more. The Defendant was unaware of either dog's condition and neither dog had been seen by a veterinarian for the condition.
10. On February 5, 2025, Wisconsin Veterinary Examining Board (VEB) staff conducted an inspection of the veterinary care practices of staff at the Defendant's facility. During this inspection and interviews with the Defendant's staff, it was found that the Defendant was conducting various surgical procedures on dogs kept within facilities that were subject to Wis. Stat. § 173.41 and Wis. Admin. Code ch. ATCP 16. Based upon admissions by several facility employees who had been directly involved, VEB staff found that the Defendant had been routinely performing nictitans gland prolapse, also known as "cherry eye," surgeries to remove the prolapsed gland on dogs for several years. During the performance of these surgeries, dogs were not given proper anesthetics (or, not given anesthetics at all), nor was proper post-operative care provided.

11. According to the VEB, board-certified veterinary ophthalmologists, and current veterinary medicine educational materials, nictitans gland prolapse surgeries require both a local and general anesthetic prior to the operation along with post-operative pain control and follow-up checks. During the inspection, employees directly involved with the surgeries explained that no anesthetics are given, no pain control is administered, no post-surgical care is administered and there are no follow-up checks. Medical records requested by the Department and provided by the Defendant support the aforementioned employee's statements. In a statement made to the VEB by the managing veterinarian (Dr. Richard Van Domelen) at Defendant's dog breeding facility, he stated that on occasion a topical eye drop is administered prior to the surgery. However, this drop is not sufficient as it only numbs the cornea but not the soft tissue of the nictitans gland. Additionally, according to Van Domelen and the aforementioned employees, the surgeries at this facility are routinely performed by untrained individuals without the proper and required education. Pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 89.05(1) and Wis. Admin. Code § VE 1.44(2)(c), veterinary surgery may only be performed by a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine who is licensed in Wisconsin. For the violations described in this complaint, Defendant does not qualify for any Wisconsin State Statute or Wisconsin Administrative Code exemptions.

12. The surgery method of removing the prolapsed nictitans gland has been considered malpractice by the veterinary community since at least 1991. From Veterinary Ophthalmology 2nd Ed. 1991 Nictitans Gland Procedure Guide, "The importance of returning the gland to its normal position cannot be overstated. Several of the dog breeds predisposed to cherry eye are also prone to develop tear insufficiency disease. Removal of the complete prolapsed gland could precipitate development of keratoconjunctivitis sicca. Removal of the entire nictitans for nictitans gland prolapse or cherry eye is flagrant malpractice.”

13. Between May 8, 2025 and May 23, 2025, the Department identified by random selection three Wisconsin licensed veterinarians who are board-certified ophthalmologists. Each veterinarian explained that in most cases it would be inappropriate to remove the nictitans gland, and if done, the dog would require lifelong daily treatment of tear stimulant eye drops. According to medical records provided by Defendant, Defendant does not treat the animals in question with tear stimulant drops.
14. Records provided by the Defendant to the Department demonstrated that the Defendant performed the improper “cherry eye” procedures on at least 308 dogs since 2022, causing physical harm and unnecessary injury.

DEMAND FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, the State of Wisconsin demands judgment against Defendant as follows:

15. That the stipulation, executed by and between the parties, be approved and made part of the Judgment in this proceeding.
16. Pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 173.41(15), the Defendant pay a civil forfeiture to the Plaintiff, State of Wisconsin, in the amount of $31,850.00 plus statutory surcharges and fees for the violations alleged in this complaint.
17. Granting any other such relief as the Court determines to be appropriate.

RE: Request for Coordinated Investigation and Appropriate Enforcement Action Concerning Ridglan Farms

To whom it may concern:

Rise for Animals and The Marty Project respectfully submit this request urging the United States Department of Agriculture (“USDA”) to initiate coordinated investigative and, as warranted, enforcement action against Ridglan Farms (“Ridglan”), a USDA-licensed Class A breeder (35-A-0009) and USDA-registered Class R research facility (35-R-0004).

This request follows the USDA’s receipt of our two previous formal complaints (AC25-0596, dated April 25, 2025, and AC25-1167, dated September 16, 2025) and is supported by new and compelling state findings demonstrating that Ridglan’s lead veterinarian — and, on information and belief, its attending veterinarian for both its Class A license and Class R registration — Dr. Richard Van Domelen (Wisconsin license number 404991) has engaged in long-term veterinary malpractice and unprofessional conduct. These findings, issued by Wisconsin’s Veterinary Examining Board (“VEB”), indicate that the animals held at Ridglan — who are subject to USDA licensure and registration — remain under the care and control of a veterinarian summarily suspended for sustained unprofessional conduct and, thereby, face an ongoing and serious risk of suffering illegal harm.

On September 30, 2025, the VEB entered an Order of Summary Suspension against Dr. Van Domelen, finding that he has — since 2008 — engaged in routine and serious violations of state regulations. Namely, the VEB determined that Dr. Van Domelen engaged in medically unnecessary and improperly executed surgical procedures; improperly delegated surgical and dental procedures to unqualified personnel; failed to use anesthesia or pain control before/during/after surgical procedures; and maintained inadequate medical records.

(Regardless of which individual is formally designated as Ridglan’s attending veterinarian for purposes of USDA licensure or registration, Ridglan must maintain compliant, attending-veterinarian-led programs of adequate veterinary care under 9 C.F.R. § 2.40 (Class A) and 9 C.F.R. § 2.33 (Class R). To the extent Dr. Van Domelen has served or currently serves as Ridglan’s attending veterinarian, the VEB’s findings bear directly on whether those federally required, attending-veterinarian-led programs are compliant.)

The VEB’s conclusions of law — which the VEB determined to “imperatively require[] emergency suspension” of Dr. Van Domelen’s veterinary license to protect “public health, safety and welfare” — include the following:

- “Since at least 2008,” Dr. Van Domelen “inappropriately delegated veterinary medical acts to individuals without the required license, education, training, and experience, as prohibited by § VE 1.44(1)(a).”
- “Since at least 2008,” Dr. Van Domelen “inappropriately delegated surgical procedures to veterinary technician [sic] and other persons not holding the required license as prohibited by § VE 1.44(2)(c).”
- “Since at least 2008,” Dr. Van Domelen “inappropriately delegated dental extractions to a person not holding the required license or certification as prohibited by § VE 1.44(2)(c)2.a.”
- “Since at least 2008,” Dr. Van Domelen “engaged in unprofessional conduct, as defined by § VE 1.58(2): Conduct in the practice of veterinary medicine which evidences a lack of knowledge or ability to apply professional principles or skills.”
- “Since at least 2008,” Dr. Van Domelen “engaged in unprofessional conduct, as defined by § VE 1.58(4): Gross, serious, or grave negligence, as compared to less serious or more ordinary acts of negligence, in the practice of veterinary medicine.”
- “Since at least 2008,” Dr. Van Domelen “violated and aided and abetted in violations substantially related to the practice of veterinary medicine, defined by § VE 1.58(7): Violating or aiding and abetting the violation of any law or administrative rule or regulation substantially related to the practice of veterinary medicine.”
- “Between February 7, 2022, and February 6, 2025,” Dr. Van Domelen “engaged in unprofessional conduct, defined by Wis. Admin. Code § VE 1.58(19): Failure to maintain records as required by s. VE 1.52.”
- “On and between approximately March 12, 2025 and September 8, 2025,” Dr. Van Domelen “engaged in unprofessional conduct as defined by Wis. Admin. Code. § VE 1.58(19): Failure to maintain records as required by s. VE 1.52.”

- “On and between approximately March 12, 2025 and September 8, 2025,” Dr. Van Domelen “engaged in unprofessional conduct, defined by Wis. - “On and between approximately March 12, 2025 and September 8, 2025,” Dr. Van Domelen “engaged in unprofessional conduct, defined by Wis. Stat. § 89.07(1)(h): In this section, ‘unprofessional conduct’ includes, but is not limited to (h): Violating any order of the examining board. This relates to Respondent failing to perform a thorough exam to establish a risk analysis and to establish an appropriate analgesic and anesthetic protocol prior to performing dental extractions, ovariohysterectomies, and orchiectomies. This relates to Respondent failing to perform nictitans gland prolapse repair surgeries only when medically indicated with such necessity documented in the medical records. This relates to Respondent failing to include anesthesia monitoring in surgical records.”

The VEB’s findings — as well as those previously rendered by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade, and Consumer Protection (“DATCP”) — bear directly on Ridglan’s compliance with the Animal Welfare Act (“AWA”) and its implementing regulations and, in so doing, support the termination of its Class A license.

The USDA may terminate an existing Class A license “at any time for any reason that a license application may be denied pursuant to” 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a), following notice and opportunity for a hearing. 9 C.F.R. § 2.12. Denial standards include, among others, that an applicant:

- “Is or would be operating in violation or circumvention of any Federal, State, or local laws;”
- “Is not in compliance with the [AWA] or any of [its] regulations or standards;”
- “[H]as been found to have violated any Federal, State, or local laws or regulations pertaining to the transportation, ownership, neglect, or welfare of animals;” and/or
- “[I]s otherwise unfit to be licensed...”

9 C.F.R. §§ 2.11(a)(2), 2.11(a)(6), 2.11(a)(7).

On the present record — as established by State findings — Ridglan satisfies multiple 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a) grounds for denial, and its license should be terminated under 9 C.F.R. § 2.12.

State findings evidence that Ridglan is operating in violation of state laws, as contemplated by 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a)(6), and in violation of state regulations pertaining to neglect and welfare of animals, as contemplated by 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a)(7).

In our September 16, 2025, complaint, we provided DATCP’s findings that Ridglan has, on at least 308 separate occasions, violated Wis. Admin. Code § ATCP 16.20(2)(a) by “failing to handle a dog as carefully as practicable and in a humane manner that does not cause physical harm or unnecessary injury” and has, on at least three separate occasions, violated Wis. Admin. Code § ATCP 16.20(2)(b) by “fail[ing] to provide daily body, mobility, and behavior check of a dog.”

On September 30, 2025, and as outlined above, the VEB concluded that Ridglan’s lead (and, on information and belief, attending) veterinarian, Dr. Van Domelen, has repeatedly, and over a period spanning almost twenty years, violated numerous provisions of Wis. Admin. Code ch. VE 1.

State findings evidence that Ridglan is not in compliance with the AWA and associated regulations, as contemplated by 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a)(2), and has violated federal regulations pertaining to the neglect and welfare of animals, as contemplated by 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a)(7).

DATCP has determined that:

- ❖ Between February 7, 2022 and February 22, 2025, Ridglan committed at least 308 violations of Wis. Admin. Code § ATCP 16.20(2)(a) by “failing to handle a dog as carefully as practicable and in a humane manner that does not cause physical harm or unnecessary injury.” These DATCP findings are probative of noncompliance with the corresponding federal standard, 9 C.F.R. § 2.131(b)(1), which requires that animals be handled carefully, expeditiously, and “in a manner that does not cause trauma, overheating, excessive cooling, behavioral stress, physical harm, or unnecessary discomfort.” Additional context provided by DATCP also supports determinations of noncompliance with other federal regulations, including 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(b)(1) (requiring the availability of appropriate personnel); 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(b)(2) (requiring the use of “appropriate methods to prevent, control, diagnose, and treat diseases and injuries”); 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(b)(4) (requiring adequate guidance for personnel “involved in the care and use of animals regarding handling . . . anesthesia, analgesia”); and 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(b)(5) (requiring “[a]dequate pre-procedural and post-procedural care in accordance with established veterinary medical and nursing procedures”).
- ❖ On June 6, 2024, and September 16, 2024, Ridglan committed a combined three violations of Wis. Admin. Code § ATCP 16.20(2)(b) by “fail[ing] to provide daily body, mobility, and behavior check of a dog.” These DATCP findings are probative of noncompliance with the corresponding federal standard, 9 C.F.R. §

2.40(b)(3), which requires that animals be observed daily “to assess their health and well-being.”

The VEB, as codified in its Order of Summary Suspension on September 30, 2025, drew the following legal conclusions about Dr. Van Domelen:

- ❖ Dr. Van Domelen (i) is unfit to practice veterinary medicine, (ii) engaged in gross, serious, or grave acts of negligence, and (iii) improperly delegated veterinary matters to unqualified staff. These VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirement that a Class A licensee ensure the “availability of appropriate . . . personnel.” 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(b)(1). Additionally, to the extent that Dr. Van Domelent has served or is currently serving as Ridglan’s attending veterinarian for purposes of its Class A license, these VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirement that a Class A licensee “have an attending veterinarian who shall provide adequate veterinary care to its animals....” 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(a).
- ❖ Dr. Van Domelen both performed unnecessary surgical procedures and performed surgical procedures inappropriately. These VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirements that a Class A licensee “use [] appropriate methods to prevent, control, diagnose, and treat diseases and injuries....” 9 C.F.R. §§ 2.40(b)(2). Additionally, to the extent that Dr. Van Domelent has served or is currently serving as Ridglan’s attending veterinarian for purposes of its Class A license, these VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirement that a Class A licensee “have an attending veterinarian who shall provide adequate veterinary care to its animals....” 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(a).
- ❖ Dr. Van Domelen (i) delegated improper surgical procedures to other staff and (ii) aided and abetted violations of applicable rules. These VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirements that Class A licensees “use [] appropriate methods to prevent, control, diagnose, and treat diseases and injuries....” and provide “[a]dequate guidance to personnel involved in the care and use of animals regarding handling, immobilization, anesthesia, analgesia, tranquilization, and euthanasia.” 9 C.F.R. §§ 2.40(b)(2), 2.40(b)(4). Additionally, to the extent that Dr. Van Domelent has served or is currently serving as Ridglan’s attending veterinarian for purposes of its Class A license, these VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirement that a Class A licensee “have an attending veterinarian who shall provide adequate veterinary care to its animals....” 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(a).
- ❖ Dr. Van Domelen failed to establish an appropriate analgesic and anesthetic protocol prior to performing surgical and dental procedures. These VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirement that Class A licensees maintain “[a]dequate pre-procedural and post-procedural care in accordance with established veterinary medical and nursing procedures.” 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(b)(5). Additionally, to the extent that Dr. Van Domelent has served or is currently serving as Ridglan’s attending veterinarian for purposes of its Class A license, these VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirement that a Class A licensee “have an attending veterinarian who shall provide adequate veterinary care to its animals....” 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(a).

- ❖ Dr. Van Domelen failed to (i) adequately document medical necessity for surgical procedures and (ii) adequately document surgical procedures. These VEB findings are probative of noncompliance with the federal requirement that Class A licensees “keep copies of medical records for dogs” that include “the date and a description of” any problem (“such as a disease, injury or illness”) “identified,” “examination findings, test results, plans for treatment and care, and treatment procedures performed, where appropriate.” 9 C.F.R. § 3.13(b)(2); see also 9 C.F.R. § 2.40(b)(5) (requiring adequate pre- and post-procedural care).

These State determinations — spanning multiple years and regulatory bodies — reflect a sustained, systemic pattern of conduct by Ridglan’s lead (and, on information and belief, attending) veterinarian. Additionally, they together evidence an overall failure on Ridglan’s behalf to “provide adequate veterinary care,” as required by federal regulation. 9 C.F.R. § 2.40; see United States Department of Agriculture. Animal Welfare Inspection Guide. Washington, D.C.: U.S. Department of Agriculture, 2025, at 6.4.2 (explaining that the “purpose of requiring a program of adequate veterinary care is to ensure that facilities attend to the health needs of animals”); United States Department of Agriculture. Animal Welfare Inspection Guide. Washington, D.C.: U.S. Department of Agriculture, 2025, at 6.4.6 (explaining that, “[i]f surgeries and/or specialized surgical procedures are performed at a licensed facility,” those procedures must be “conducted consistent with standard veterinary practice”).

Further, to the extent that Dr. Van Domelen has served or currently serves as Ridglan’s attending veterinarian in connection with its Class R research registration (35-R-0004), the VEB and DATCP findings underscore the need for the USDA to assess Ridglan’s compliance with 9 C.F.R. § 2.33, which similarly contemplates the provision of “adequate veterinary care” by “an attending veterinarian,” as well as the establishment and maintenance of “programs of adequate veterinary care.” See 9 C.F.R. §§ 2.33(a), 2.33(b) (setting forth the following requirements for Class R registrants: “(1) The availability of appropriate facilities, personnel, equipment, and services to comply with the provisions of this subchapter; (2) The use of appropriate methods to prevent, control, diagnose, and treat diseases and injuries, and the availability of emergency, weekend, and holiday care; (3) Daily observation of all animals to assess their health and well-being; . . . (4) Guidance to principal investigators and other personnel involved in the care and use of animals regarding handling, immobilization, anesthesia, analgesia, tranquilization, and euthanasia; and (5) Adequate pre-procedural and post-procedural care in accordance with established veterinary medical and nursing procedures.”)

State findings and Ridglan's associated statements and decisions evidence that Ridglan is "otherwise unfit to be licensed" within the meaning of 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a)(7).

The USDA has terminated AWA licenses under 9 C.F.R. § 2.12 based on 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a) grounds where the record showed violations of state animal welfare laws. See, e.g., In re Carrie Leo (USDA ALJ) (granting summary judgment and terminating AWA license under 9 C.F.R. §§ 2.11(a)(5), (6), and 2.12). Such precedent confirms that state law noncompliance can underpin a finding of unfitness and serve as a proper basis for license termination — and the VEB's and DATCP's findings here support the same conclusion and result.

A determination of Ridglan's unfitness is further supported by Dr. Van Domelen's and Ridglan's own actions. At the September 30, 2025, hearing before the VEB, Dr. Van Domelen effectively conceded the VEB's determination that he lacks "knowledge or ability to apply professional principles or skills," publicly analogizing his professional and regulatory noncompliance to a child struggling with math homework:

When helping your child with math homework, do you simply tell your child that the answer is wrong, do it again, repetitively? Or do you explain what the mistake was and how he or she should do it correctly? That's all I'm asking for today.

Despite this public admission of professional ineptitude — and the VEB's summary suspension of Dr. Van Domelen's veterinary license on this and other grounds — Ridglan has stated that it will retain Dr. Van Domelen as its facility manager.

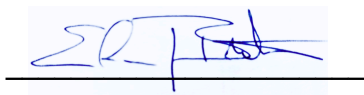

Dr. Van Domelen's admissions and Ridglan's decision to nevertheless retain him, together with the State's established record, support a finding that Ridglan is "unfit" to hold a Class A license, warranting termination of its license under 9 C.F.R. § 2.12 based on 9 C.F.R. § 2.11(a)(7).

On the basis of the foregoing, we respectfully request that the USDA:

- Coordinate immediately with DATCP and the VEB under 7 U.S.C. § 2145(b) to review and address the hundreds of regulatory violations documented by state authorities.
- Terminate Ridglan's Class A license (35-A-0009) under 9 C.F.R. § 2.12, based on the § 2.11(a)(2), (6), and (7) grounds for denial established by state findings.
- Investigate whether Ridglan's documented violations implicate its Class R registration (35-R-0004), and, if so, take appropriate enforcement action.
- Refer the matter to the Office of the General Counsel and Department of Justice for injunctive relief, consistent with the precedent set in United States v. Envigo RMS, LLC (W.D. Va. 2022).

Wisconsin's DATCP and VEB have established a pattern of long-standing and ongoing violations that demonstrate Ridglan's failure to comply with both state and federal requirements, and Ridglan's own statements and actions further betray its unfitness to hold USDA licensure. The record before both state and federal authorities reflects not merely procedural deficiencies but sustained noncompliance with professional, regulatory, and animal welfare standards. It follows that, under the AWA and its implementing regulations, termination of Ridglan's Class A license — and investigation into Ridglan's Class R registration — are not only authorized, but necessary, to prevent further unlawful animal harm and to preserve the integrity of federal enforcement and public confidence in USDA oversight.

FINDINGS OF FACT

5. On December 5, 2024, the Board received a complaint against Respondent from Rebekah Robinson on behalf of Dane4Dogs, making several allegations against Respondent, all of which are detailed below.

6. As quoted directly from the complaint, the allegations included:

- a. Wis. Stat. §§ 951.02 & 951.18 (felony mutilation of dogs by performing surgeries without anesthesia or veterinary supervision, either directly or vicariously through employees by aiding and abetting or conspiring with others to do so);
- b. Wis. Admin. Code VE § 1.44 (improper delegation of surgical procedures to non-veterinary students and non-veterinary technicians); and
- c. Wis. Stat. §§ 951.02 (misdemeanor intentional or negligent cruel treatment of animals by failing to examine and provide adequate health care for dogs);
- d. Wis. Stat. § 951.14 (misdemeanor failure to provide proper shelter through proper ventilation, structural strength of enclosures, space provisions, and sanitation standards, either directly or vicariously through employees, or by aiding and abetting or conspiring with others to do so);
- e. Wis. Admin. Code VE § 1.58 (gross negligence; committing crimes relating to veterinary practice; violating or aiding and abetting laws and regulations related to veterinary practice; and failing to keep veterinary facilities and equipment clean and sanitary).

7. The complaint consisted of 15 pages which fully detailed each of the above allegations. Additionally, there were 207 pages of exhibits submitted with the complaint.

8. On January 8, 2025, Compliance Officer Dustin Boyd (Boyd) and VEB Investigator Erin Carter (Carter) interviewed former Ridgland Farms employee Scott Gilbertson (Gilbertson).

- a. Gilbertson was employed by Ridgland farms from approximately December 2021 to January 2022.
- b. Gilbertson stated that on several occasions during his term of employment, he had provided assistance to co-worker Leah Staley (Staley) who would perform “cherry eye” (nictitans gland prolapse) surgeries on dogs at Ridglan Farms.

- c. Gilbertson described that he would hold the dog tight while Staley would cut the prolapsed eye gland with some scissors. Immediately upon the cut being made to the dog’s eyelid, the dog would thrash about and make loud noises that Gilbertson described similar to a scream.
- d. Gilbertson explained that there was never any type of anesthesia, pain medication, blood control, or after-care administered.
- e. Gilbertson stated that the surgeries were performed cage-side, in a non-sterile environment. Upon completion of the surgery, he and/or Staley would put the dog back in its cage. Upon being back in its cage, the victim dog’s cage-mate would usually immediately lick the blood off of the victim’s face.
- f. Neither Gilbertson nor Staley are licensed doctors of veterinary medicine (DVM) or certified veterinary technicians in the State of Wisconsin. Gilbertson was not provided any training regarding these surgeries.
- g. Gilbertson stated there was no veterinarian supervision of these surgeries.
- h. Gilbertson said that the cherry-eye are performed on almost a daily basis, but not quite every day. On the days those surgeries were performed, multiple dogs would be operated on at that day.
- i. Gilbertson stated that the direction to perform these surgeries came from Respondent Dr. Rick VanDomelen to Staley, and then Staley would direct Gilbertson to help.
- j. When asked if anyone at Ridglan Farms ever informed him that only a licensed veterinarian can perform these surgeries, Gilbertson responded that one time Staley casually mentioned that “technically a veterinarian is supposed to do this but we just perform them without a veterinarian”, as she made an expression on her face.

9. On January 13, 2025, Boyd and Carter interviewed former Ridglan Farms employee Matthew Reich (Reich).

- a. Reich was employed by Ridglan Farms approximately from January 2006 to August 2010.
- b. Reich stated that Respondent Dr. Rick VanDomelen started employment at Ridglan Farms about a year and a half after Reich (approximately mid-2007).
- c. Reich stated that on several occasions he had provided assistance to co-workers Jim Hiltbrand (Hiltbrand) and Al Olson (Olson) who would perform “cherry eye” surgeries on dogs.

- d. Reich described that he would hold the dog with the dog's snout closed while Hiltbrand or Olson would use a tweezers to hold the prolapsed eye gland and then cut it with a pair of scissors. The eye would bleed profusely and the dog would immediately be put back into its kennel.
- e. Reich explained that there was never any type of anesthesia, pain medication or blood control provided.
- f. Reich explained that there was no standing practice to provide after-care to the dog.
- g. Reich stated that the surgeries were performed cage-side, in a non-sterile environment. Upon completion of the surgery, he would put the dog back in its cage. Upon being back in its cage, the victim dog's cage-mate would usually immediately lick the blood off the victim's face.
- h. Reich said that while there is a procedure/surgery room in one of the buildings, the room isn't often used other than to euthanize dogs.
- i. Neither Reich, Olson, nor Hiltbrand are licensed or certified to practice veterinary medicine in the State of Wisconsin. Reich was not provided any training regarding these surgeries until the first occurrence when he was only shown how to hold the dog.
- j. Reich stated there was no veterinarian supervision of these surgeries.
- k. Reich said that on average, the above-described cherry-eye surgeries were performed about once per day. Some days there would be more, some days there would be none.
- l. Reich stated that on several occasions he had provided assistance to co-workers Hiltbrand and Olson who would perform "de-vocalization" surgeries on dogs.
- m. Reich described the process to start with Hiltbrand and Olson gathering about 30-40 dogs in a group outside of the kennels/cage-side. Hiltbrand or Olson would give each dog an injectable sedative, however the dogs appeared to be awake. Reich would support each dog while Hiltbrand and Olson performed the surgery. Hiltbrand or Olson would hold a light and operate a wedge or forceps. The other individual would go down the dog's throat with a scissors, clip the vocal cord, and then throw the vocal cord on the floor to later be washed away.
- n. After the surgery, each dog would be put back into its kennel
- o. Reich explained that there was never any type of pain medication provided.
- p. Reich said that there was no follow-up or after-care provided to the dogs.

- q. According to Reich, the de-vocalization surgeries occurred about twice per year.

10. On February 5, 2025, Carter and WDATCP employees Heidi Ulteig (Ulteig), Tyler Mortenson (Mortenson), Keri Schlimgen (Schlimgen), Julie Phillippi (Phillippi), and Dustin Boyd (Boyd) conducted an unannounced inspection and investigation at Ridglan Farms (Respondent's workplace).

11. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Carter interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Ethel "Em" Jenson (Jenson). Jenson was seen working in one of the buildings prior to the interview.

- a. Jenson stated that she has assisted Heather Sutcliffe (Sutcliffe) and Olson with cherry-eye surgeries at Ridglan Farms.

12. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Carter interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Kurt Tollakson (Tollakson). Tollakson was seen working in one of the buildings prior to the interview.

- a. Tollakson stated that he has heard about cherry-eye surgeries at Ridglan Farms. Tollakson explained that if he sees a dog with cherry-eye, he reports it.
- b. Tollakson said that they did "de-barking" a long time ago, but not now.

13. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Carter interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Taylor Brown (Brown). Brown was seen working in one of the buildings prior to the interview.

- a. Brown stated that she has assisted Georgia Heller (Heller) with cherry-eye surgeries at Ridglan Farms.
- b. Brown stated that Sutcliffe also performs these surgeries. She stated that "guys in the breeding barn" assist with the surgeries, and described them as mid to older age.
- c. Brown described the surgery to start with an eye drop, and then she would hold the dog's head so their face doesn't move, the eye gland would be clamped, the gland would be cut with scissors, another eye drop would be applied, the eye could be held closed for 15-20 seconds, and then the dog is put back into the cage.
- d. Brown said that there is no anesthetic, pain control, or after-care administered.
- e. When asked about de-vocalization surgeries, Brown stated that she was not aware of any. However, Brown stated that she had heard dogs before with a hoarse-like bark (similar to how a de-vocalized dog might sound), and that she could probably identify them if needed.

- f. Brown also explained that she performs dentals at Ridglan Farms. As part of these duties, she explained she performs dental extractions as well.

14. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Ulteig interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Christopher Nachkash (Nachkash). Nachkash was seen working in one of the buildings prior to the interview.

- a. Nachkash stated that he has assisted with cherry-eye surgeries at Ridglan Farms.
- b. Nachkash explained that generally, he will hold the dog while Sutcliffe, Olson, or VanDomelen performs the surgery.
- c. Nachkash explained that they put eye drops in to numb the eye, then the gland is held with a tweezers and then cut with scissors. It bleeds a little and then gauze or paper towel is used to stop the bleeding.
- d. Nachkash explained that eye drops are used and if severe, a pain reliever pill called Rimadyl is administered.
- e. Nachkash said that these surgeries are delegated by Sutcliffe or Respondent Dr. Rick VanDomelen.

15. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Ulteig interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Heather Sutcliffe (Sutcliffe). Sutcliffe was seen working in one of the buildings prior to the interview.

- a. Sutcliffe stated that she has removed cherry-eyes on dogs at Ridglan Farms.
- b. Sutcliffe explained that Olson and Heller also perform these surgeries.
- c. Sutcliffe explained that staff will help to hold the dogs while the surgery is performed.
- d. Sutcliffe said that numbing drops are used to the eye that surgery is being performed on. If a dog is squirmy, she will “knock that one out” with a combination mixture of Ketamine and “dexta-something”. She will take the forceps, grab a hold of the eye gland, and then cut the eye gland with scissors.
- e. Sutcliffe stated that the only anesthetic/pain control/after-care administered is a triple antibiotic eye ointment if it red afterwards.
- f. Sutcliffe admitted that she has seen de-vocalization surgeries done at Ridglan Farms easily a hundred times, however it hasn’t been done for about 10 years. She stated that she might have helped with a few.

- g. According to Sutcliffe, Hiltbrand performed the de-vocalization surgeries, but he is no longer employed by Ridglan Farms.
- h. Sutcliffe explained that for de-vocalization surgeries, the dog would get put to sleep, laid on their belly, and then Hiltbrand would go in with a tool and cut the vocal cords.
- i. Sutcliffe said that she doesn't remember what drugs/anesthetics/pain control was administered for the de-vocalization surgeries. She said she doesn't remember any after-care.
- j. Sutcliffe stated that she performs the cherry-eye surgeries under the direction of Respondent Rick VanDomelen. She said that VanDomelen trained her how to perform the surgeries.

16. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Ulteig interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Shyanne Jentz (Jentz). Jentz was seen working in one of the buildings prior to the interview.

- a. Jentz stated that she has assisted Sutcliffe perform cherry-eye surgeries at Ridglan Farms.
- b. Jentz said that they would put drops on the eye to numb it. The eye gland would be grabbed with a tweezers and then it would be cut with surgical scissors. She would hold the dog outside of the kennel and then put it back in the kennel after the surgery.
- c. Jentz stated that there are no drugs used for the surgery. If the eye seems irritated afterwards, they would use a triple antibiotic with steroids. She stated that she has never used pain medication.

17. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Phillippi interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Thomas Beam (Beam). Beam was seen working in one of the buildings prior to the interview.

- a. Beam stated that he has assisted Sutcliffe, Olson, and sometimes Respondent Dr. Rick VanDomelen perform cherry-eye surgeries at Ridglan Farms.
- b. Beam stated that "Heather (Sutcliffe) is a vet tech". Investigators reviewed records of licenses and certifications of the Wisconsin Veterinary Examining Board and observed that Sutcliffe is not certified in Wisconsin as a veterinary technician nor is she a licensed veterinarian.
- c. The only medication/care that Beam said was used in the cherry-eye surgeries is a triple antibiotic.

- d. Beam said that de-vocalization surgeries used to occur at Ridglan Farms, but “that was a long time ago. Been 10 years”.
- e. Beam explained that the delegation to perform cherry-eye surgeries and de-vocalization surgeries came “from the office”.

18. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Phillippi interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Allan Olson (Olson).

- a. Olson admitted that he performs cherry-eye surgeries at Ridglan Farms, along with Sutcliffe and Respondent Dr. Rick VanDomelen.
- b. Olson explained that he puts proparacaine drops in the eye, someone would hold the dog and pull out the eyelid and snip it with a scissors. The dog is then put back into the cage.
- c. Olson said there is no pain medication used. It varies on how long each dog bleeds for. Some don’t bleed at all.
- d. Olson admitted that he and Hiltbrand have performed de-vocalization surgeries on dogs, but it hasn’t been done in years.
- e. Olson explained that for de-vocalization surgeries, the dog would get an IV injection and sedated. He would then use a tongue forceps and cut the vocal cords. He explained that there was no pain control administered.

19. During the February 5, 2025 inspection, Mortenson interviewed current Ridglan Farms employee Shana Sigg (Sigg). Sigg was seen working in one of the buildings prior to the interview.

- a. Sigg said that she has heard of cherry-eye surgeries being performed at Ridglan Farms, but she has had no direct involvement.
- b. Sigg explained that she has heard that Respondent Dr. Rick VanDomelen and Sutcliffe perform the surgeries.
- c. At this time, Sigg’s husband, Jake Sigg approached her and Mortenson. At this point, Jake Sigg encouraged Sigg to change her statement to state that only Dr. Rick VanDomelen performs the surgeries. Sigg then changed her answer to state that “Rick only” performs the surgeries.

20. On February 18, 2025 Respondent sent a series of text messages to Board member Lyn Schuh. One of the messages read, “...The reason I’m contacting you is that the animal rights crazies are filing complaints with the veterinary examining board about the veterinarians at Ridglan Farms, specifically me and one of those complaints is totally false. That would be allegation number 2. I don’t think the VEB understands that we are allowed under the USDA as a research facility to delegate with proper training and documentation that non-veterinarians can perform certain procedures that are minor. I was just hoping that somebody on the veterinary examining board would be able to share this information with the other members since we are not able to defend our self in Dane county courts or at the veterinary examining board meetings at this point. I don't know if you're aware but on February 5, 30 people in 15 vehicles which included the Dane County sheriff, the DEA and the Wisconsin Department of agriculture under the veterinary examining board raided our facility. Many of them are armed and were very threatening to our employees if they did not tell them whatever they wanted. They said if you don't talk to us, you might be charged and be subject to criminal charges. as a veterinary examining board member, I thought you should know this. Hopefully you can share this before the meeting tomorrow at noon with some other board member or two. I'm available tomorrow between seven and whenever if you happen to have a moment to talk. Thank you, Lyn and have a good night."

21. Leah Staley has never been licensed in the State of Wisconsin to practice veterinary medicine, nor has she been certified as a veterinary technician.

22. Heather Sutcliffe has never been licensed in the State of Wisconsin to practice veterinary medicine, nor has she been certified as a veterinary technician.

23. Allan Olson has never been licensed in the State of Wisconsin to practice veterinary medicine, nor has he been certified as a veterinary technician.

24. Georgia Heller has never been licensed in the State of Wisconsin to practice veterinary medicine. Georgia is certified in the State of Wisconsin as a veterinary technician, under certification number 406269, first issued on September 9, 1992. Heller sent a letter to the Department which was received on February 17, 2025. The letter stated, "I am writing to withdraw my veterinary technician license #406269 for Georgia Heller. Thought it was expired in 2023? Thank you." The Department acknowledged receipt of Heller's letter. The Department informed Heller via email that Heller may simply let her certification lapse at the end of 2025.

25. On March 11, 2025, the Board convened to determine a petition seeking a summary suspension of Respondent's license, based on numerous violations found during the February 5, 2025 inspection at Respondent's workplace, Ridglan Farms, as set forth in the affidavit. The Board considered the Respondent's treatment of 'cherry eye,' formally known as nictitans glands prolapse, to be a significant problem, both in the number of surgeries of questionable medical necessity, as well as the Board's understanding of the surgical technique used. There were also concerns with improper delegation, other surgeries, dental extractions, and recordkeeping.

At the March 11, 2025 meeting, Respondent addressed the Board and a stipulation was reached. The Board allowed Respondent to continue practicing veterinary medicine and avoid suspension by stipulating to abide by the conditions in Attachment A. Based on the stipulation, the Board entered an order titled, "Order Approving Stipulation to Resolve Pending Petition for Summary Suspension of Respondent's License." This order placed several conditions on Respondent's license rather than suspending it. The conditions included that Respondent comply with Wis. Admin. Code s. 1.52, pertaining to medical records, and include anesthesia monitoring in surgical records. (section 11(e) of the March 11, 2025 order); Only conduct nictitans gland prolapse repair surgery when it is medically necessary and document said reason (section 11(b) of the March 11, 2025 order); and perform a thorough exam to establish a risk analysis and to establish an appropriate analgesic and anesthetic protocol prior to performing dental extractions, ovariohysterectomies, and orchiectomies (section 11(a) and 11(c) of the March 11, 2025 order).

26. On September 8, 2025, Board investigator Carter and Supervisor Boyd conducted a follow-up inspection at Ridglan Farms, which essentially consisted of a request for medical/surgical records to determine compliance with the March 11, 2025 order. Carter and Boyd obtained more than 150 medical/surgical records of surgeries that took place between approximately March 12, 2025 and September 8, 2025. Each record was lacking the majority of the required information and violated the Board's March 11, 2025 order.

27. On September 30, 2025, the Board convened to consider the Petition for Summary Suspension of Respondent's license. Respondent's attorney claimed untimely notice pursuant to Wis. Admin. Code § VE 3.58, which references Wis. Stat. § 227.44 (1), requiring a 10 day notice absent an emergency exception.
